The Trustees have called a special election, to be The Trustees have called a special election, to be held this afternoon at the Corporation Rooms, in Washington-st., for the purpose of deciding the question of appropriating $34,000 for street improvements. The majority of the taxpayers seem to favor the issuance of bonds in that sum, but a number, although they admit that the improvements proposed are needed, are opposed to the proposition on the ground that the village is row heavily bonded. The indebtedness of the village is about $50,000, not including the $55,000 recently added by the Water Commissioners.

The Presbytery of Westchester began its fall

The Presbytery of Westchester began its fall session in the Presbyterian Church last night with devotional exercises and a sermon by the Rev. George H. Knox of Ryc. The delegates are being entertained by a committee consisting of Z. E. Lewis, R. Condit Eddy and John K. Myers. It was announced last hight that the Rev. Goorge F. Pentecost, who was to address the Presbytery tonight, will be peable to be present, and a home mission session will be held instead.

W. P. Hoyt, who died here on Saturday, will be buried to-day. Mr. Hoyt was seventy-eight years old. When a young man he entered the Methodist ministry and preached in New-York City, Port Chester and Jamaica, Long Island. Then he revired from the ministry and became a bookkeeper in New-York City, but continued as a local preacher. His wife died fifteen years ago, and ten years ago he remarried. His second wife survives him. In the Civil War Mr. Hoyt went to the front as a member of an Ohio regiment, and rose to be captain. The funeral will be at St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church, and burial will be in Beechwood Cemetery.

YOUNG FISH IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

ARRESTED WITH THREE OTHER YOUNG MEN IN A BROADWAY CAFE.

Four young men clad in dress suits raised a row in the cafe attached to Weber & Field's Music Hall, at Twenty-ninth-st. and Broadway, this norning at 1 o'clock. They had wine and luncheon, and when a bill for $7 90 was presented they refused to pay it. Special Officer Weeks had to call on all the waiters to help him in arresting the young men. They were taken to the West Thirtleth-st, police station, where they were locked up. They gave their names and addresses as George Hender-son, of No. 206 South William-st.; Henry C. Scofield, a student, of No. 212 West Thirty-eighth-st.; James Eckly, of No. 13 East Forty-second-st., and Edward Rowins, of the Sturtevant House, These names and addresses are all fictitious. Henderson was recognized by the police at the station as Hamilton Fish, nephew of Hamilton Fish, the former Speaker of the Assembly. He has been in trouble before.

CHANGES IN THE FACULTY.

OPENING OF THE LAW SCHOOL OF THE NEW YORK UNIVERSITY.

The Law School of the New-York University was formally opened yesterday afternoon in the University Building, Washington Square. Chancellor Mac-Cracken delivered an address to the students in the large lecture-roun on the tenth floor. There was also an evening session, at which a number of short addresses were given by members of the faculty. Dean Ashley, who was seriously ill August and is now recuperating, was unable to be present, and Professor Isanc F. Russell, of Brook yo, was the principal speaker of the even-

There are important changes in the faculty—Professor Sommer will succeed Dr. Tledeman, who has decided to give all his time to literary work, and Dean Ashley will take the work of Judge William Wirt Howe, who has given up his chair in equity jurisprudence.

The post-graduate department will not be opened until the 18th of this month. It has been strengthened, by a course in advanced constitutional law, to be given by Dean Ashley, and a course on drafting and construction of wills, by Professor Sommer.

The Law School believes in a thoroughly eclectic university method, and it desires the raising of the legal requirement for the degree of bachelor of its with the enrolment is not completed, Chancellor MacCracken predicts an increase in the number of students over last year, when there were ver six nundred registered in the various classes.

SOLD PHENACETIN AT HALF-PRICE. HOBOKEN HOTEL PORTER HELD FOR THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY ON A CHARGE OF AID-ING THE SALE OF A SMUGGLED DRUG.

Hugo Hahnemann, a hotel porter, was held by United States Commissioner Edward Rusa in Ho-boken yesterday afternoon for the Federal Grand Jury on a charge of "facilitating the transfer, cor-cealment and cale of smuggled phenacetin." Hahnemann was arrested last Thursday, as he was going aboard the steamship Kalser Wilhelm ler Grosse, just before the ship left her pler in Hoboken. He was identified as the man who left 362 ounces of phenacetin at August Liebhauser's saloon, in Washington-st., Hoboken, on September 13. The saloonkeeper was arrested for being in possession of the smuggled phenacetin, but was

The most important witness was Frederick Klap-penberg, a traveller for Schleffelin & Co., wholeale druggists of this city, who are the sole agents learned that A. W. Moebus, a bookkeeper, of No. 315 East One-hundred-and-twelfth-st., had procured phenacetin, the market price of which is $16 an penberg was ordered to make an effort to obtain some of the smuggled drug. Accordingly, he made an engagement with Moebus, whom he met at a saloon in Hoboken. After a brief conversation Moebus left Klappenberg at the saloon and went saloon in Hoboken. After a brief conversation Moebus left Klappenberg at the saloon and went to Meyer's Horel, where Hahnemann was employed, and told him that he had a customer. The porter said that he had twenty pounds of phenacetin which he could deliver at once, Mocious rejoined Klappenberg, and the two men walked toward Laubauver's saloon, where the phenacetin was to be delivered. On the way, however, Moebus became suspicious, and when Hahnemann approached he was warned not to deliver the goods. The porter, however, nisunderstood the warning and gave the phenacetin to Klappenberg in the presence of several customs officers, who, for reasons best known to themselves, did not arrest him, but instead teok the saloonkeeper into ensidy. The driver of an express wagon testified that he had frequently delivered parcels to the porter at Meyer's Hotel. These packages, he said, had come from the steamship piers. Another witness, a drug salesman, declared that he had bought the smuggled drug from Hahnemann at half the market price. His conscience troubled him, he said, as he knew that Schieffelin & Co. had the American agency, so he informed the firm about Jahnemann's transactions.

It is unknown from whom Hahnemann obtained the drug, but the customs officers believe that it was smuggled into the country in the bargage of members, of the crews of German versels which are docked in Hoboken, these arrests, it is said, will be made.

DISORDERLY AT A THEATRE.

MR. MANSFIELD'S FORMER SECRETARY WANTED TO SEE THE PLAY, BUT WAS ARRESTED. Charles R. Cochran, twenty-five years old, for merly secretary to Richard Mansfield, was locked up on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly con-duct, at the West Thirtieth-st station, last night. He appeared at the Fifth Avenue Theatre a little after the performance opened and demanded some after the performance opened and demanded some tickets which he said Mr. Mansfield had promised to leave for him. Inasmuch as he very much intoxicated and not a desirable addition to the audience in that state, the tickets were refused. Thereupen Mr. Cochran made a big fuss and the theatre policeman was called to eject the disturber. It required not only his efforts but the services of two policemen from the street to effect this reform, and Mr. Cochran was loaded into a delivery waxon, which was pressed into service, and he was carted to the station. In the fight his clothes were almost torn from him, and he presented a sorry spectacle when he was locked up.
